

New BOA Board Volunteers

This year, three of the current BOA board members are finishing their terms. Fortunately, new volunteers have generously stepped up to fill the vacancies. Our board volunteers are critical to the entire neighborhood, and we are thankful for both the outgoing volunteers who have worked SO hard for us during their terms, and for the new homeowners who are joining the team. Read on to learn more about the three new BOA board volunteers.

Tommy Ramirez

a three year old son named Jameson and small furry daughter named Molly.

Hello, My name is Tommy Ramirez. My wife, Sara, and I are excited to be a part of this wonderful community. We have visited and vacationed in Carteret County for many years. We couldn't be happier to finally live here! I work for Hyster-Yale Group as a Technical Trainer and travel all over North (including Canada) and South America. Sara works in the business office at Carteret Heath Care. We moved here from Bath, NC, where I served as a volunteer firefighter and Vice-President of the Fire Department Board. We have

Sandra Gahlinger

Hi Neighbors! My name is Sandra Gahlinger. I'm volunteering for the BOA because I love living here - I moved to Brandywine three years ago this June, and, as I said, I simply LOVE it. I grew up in Morehead, went to grade school and middle school in Beaufort (at Beaufort Christian Academy), and graduated from West Carteret. I then went to NC State and worked at the School of Science and Math in Durham. I eventually moved to Coronado, California, where I met my husband. When he retired, I returned to Morehead and on a short trip home in 2016, I found the house on Lord Granville Drive. (I'd been away for 30 years at that point...Guess it's true what they say: "North Carolinians always come home.") My mom still lives off 20th Street, and my brother, sister-in-law and two nieces live off Country Club.

My background is in education. I've taught everything from pre-K to Community College. I started my career with a focus on creating living/learning communities and designing education environments that allow these community driven spaces (and their residents) to flourish. Those initial experiences fueled my passion for living well and helping others do the same. I've volunteered with Monica at Sound Waves. I enjoyed working with her and serving the community in that way. It was at the paper that I learned more about the board and its function in the community, and last fall, I think we all saw first hand the amazing work they do. Volunteering is a way to pay it forward, say "grazie", and serve the community. I want to apply my experiences, knowledge, and skill sets to the work of maintaining this amazing community we call home, and I want to see our owner's association remain community managed.

BOA Committee Summaries (Golf Course Side Only)

By Nancy Beszterczi

With a neighborhood as large as Brandywine, it takes a lot of volunteers to keep our dues down and our neighborhood looking nice. To do this, it takes many hands. We have a number of committees, and we hope you will read through these descriptions and want to help in some capacity. Each committee is authorized to spend according to the budget the BOA Board has approved. Prior to preparation of the annual budget, the Committee person presents the Board with the plan for the next fiscal year's activities and estimated costs.

All of these committees are looking for more volunteers to learn the ropes, share the responsibilities, and ensure continuity going forward. If you are interested in learning more about a committee, please contact Nancy Beszterczi 252-269-0179.

The Architectural Control Committee

The purpose of the Architectural Control Committee (ACC) is to assure compliance with all building restrictions and all covenants by all Brandywine Owners as spelled out in the covenants. The ACC also assists the owner/builder throughout the construction process.

Beautification Committee

The purpose of the Beautification Committee is to maintain the established flowerbeds in the common areas, primarily the plantings at the two entrances (Highway 24 and 70). Maintain the operation of the irrigation systems at the two entrances. Request bids from landscapers for any necessary projects. Maintain the flags at both entrances and replace flags as needed.

Boat Yard Committee

The Boat Yard Committee manages the boat yard, including maintenance of the waiting list for spaces, collection of the annual fees, and maintenance of the boat yard property.

Camera Committee

The Camera Committee maintains the security cameras in the neighborhood and boat yard. When there is damage at the gates, the committee reviews the camera footage to help identify the responsible party.

Christmas Light Committee

The Christmas Light Committee puts up and takes down the Christmas lights and other decorations at the Highway 24 and Highway 70 entrances.

The Drainage Committee

The Drainage Committee monitors the flow of storm water throughout the community and maintains the best possible drainage throughout the community.

Gate Card/Welcome Committee

The Gate Card Committee ensures all residents on the golf side of Brandywine (tenants and owners) are able to enter through the gates whenever the gates are closed. The gate cards for the Village Green entrance are managed by the Village Green association. The committee also distributes the BOA Welcome Packet to all new residents when contacted by the new resident.

Gate Committee

The Gate Committee manages the installation and maintenance of the gates at the three entrances (Village Green, Highway 24 and Highway 70).

Recreation Area Committee

*We currently do not have any volunteers for this committee! The committee will maintain the recreation area and consider improvements and additions to the area.

Make a difference! Volunteer on a BOA Committee

Do you want to make sure Brandywine continues to be a great place for your family to live? If so, the neighborhood needs you to get involved! Everyone can help! You don't need special skills – just a commitment to supporting your community.

ALL ABOARD!

By Andy Haines

Hello Brandywine!

To start out with, I wanted to thank those of you who responded to our call for volunteers to run for the upcoming Board election. We have some excellent candidates who have stepped up to fill the three vacancies that will be coming up at the end of May, so please check out their biographies in this issue of the Sound Waves to learn more about them.

I also wanted to thank everyone who came out to the neighborhood meeting the other night. We had some productive discussions, and several interesting ideas were put forth. We look forward to continuing to hear from all Brandywine residents about your thoughts, concerns, and ideas for the future, and we look forward to seeing you at our next Annual Meeting in May.

In this edition of the All Aboard, I wanted to provide everyone with some more details on two of the ballot items that you will be receiving in the mail shortly, if you haven't already. The first is a yes/no vote on approving a one-time assessment for all property owners in Brandywine of $365. As you are all aware, Hurricane Florence took quite a toll on the community, and the cleanup efforts were intense and expensive. Included in these cleanup costs were the initial clearing of fallen trees that were blocking all of the roads throughout the neighborhood, the removal of all damaged and fallen trees and vegetation from community common areas, the hauling away of around 1,000 large trailer-loads of debris that were brought to the curb by residents of the neighborhood, the clearing and restoration of the drainage network throughout the neighborhood, and the repair of roads and culverts that were damaged by the flooding, among many other things. Although we maintain an adequate operating budget and a sizable fund dedicated towards road repairs, our natural disaster fund and budget reserves were largely used up to pay for this cleanup. In order to ensure that our neighborhood is in a position to mount a community level response towards future storms, the Board has unanimously recommended this assessment in order to rebuild our natural disaster fund and to restock our budget reserves.

If this assessment is approved by the community vote, then notices for payment would likely be mailed to all property owners in July or August. Because we understand that this assessment may create a financial hardship for many, especially coming on the heels of the annual dues payment, we plan on making arrangements to allow for this assessment to be paid in two or three installments over the course of a few months. Thanks to Lyle Vogel for also pointing out that some insurance policies may provide reimbursement to policy-holders for any special assessments, like this one, that are related to the storm. Please check with your insurance agent or review your individual policy to see if this is the case for you.

Please also note, however, that if this assessment were not to pass, that the Board will no longer be able to arrange for a community level response to any future storms, and all of the time, effort, and costs associated with future cleanups will instead be borne by each individual property owner. Additionally, the Board may be forced to instead consider a permanent dues increase in order to be able to finance any future cleanups of common areas and community property. We hope that you will vote yes on this one-time assessment.

The second ballot item is a yes/no vote on adopting an updated version of the community bylaws. This past year, it came to our attention during consultation with the neighborhood lawyer that several bylaws amendments that have been passed over the past 10-15 years may not have been in full compliance with existing North Carolina law governing the management of homeowners associations. In order to ensure that all of our bylaws are completely legal and enforceable, we have been working with our lawyers to redraft one comprehensive bylaws document that incorporates all of the amendments that have ever been passed, as well as a few additional modifications that the lawyers strongly recommended in order to bring us into compliance with all current laws and regulations. These updated bylaws will be available for review on the community website at brandywineowners.org shortly, and will be included in the April edition of the Sound Waves, but for the most part, this new document will not change anything from what was already in place. The few changes that you should be aware of before voting include the following:

- Restores flexibility in planning for the annual meeting by specifying only that it occurs in the second quarter of the year.
- Lowers the threshold for a quorum to 30% of the eligible voting members, down from 50%. The lawyers said that the 50% threshold was unnecessarily high, and not in keeping with the standards of other similar neighborhood associations.
- Clarifies that the term of service for each elected board member is three years.
- Current bylaws specify that there must always be five board members, but it was recommended to revise this to state "not less than 3 and not more than 5" so that we are not in violation of the bylaws if a board member has to resign for any reason, and we can't immediately identify a replacement.
- Eliminates a provision for absentee voting that is not permissible under North Carolina law.
- Adds additional recommended language around the process for identifying or nominating new candidates to run for the board.
- Adds language required by law that specifies how many board members must be present to allow for a vote, and lays out how board members may be removed from service through a vote of the homeowners.
- Clarifies that all future amendments to the bylaws must be passed by a community vote so that we don't run into this problem again.

We hope that you will join us in voting yes on these updated bylaws so that we can be sure that they remain current, legal, and enforceable moving forward.

Oh No! Fleas!

By Dr. Todd Worrell

A few fleas can turn into a massive infestation in a hurry. And if your pet is sensitive to flea antigen, even one or two bites can make him very uncomfortable. In our area, fleas thrive year-round. Plus, fleas can survive on your pet and inside anywhere! Year-round flea control is best for your pet.

When it comes to fleas, your pet is most likely to become a target if it comes into contact with an infested area or environment. Stray cats and dogs, rabbits and ferrets can carry flea eggs into your yard. Having a fence doesn't necessarily mean you'll keep fleas out.

Below are some reasons your home makes an ideal environment for fleas—and what you can do about it.

Outside the home: For successful reproduction, fleas select protected, shady, undisturbed areas, for example porches, decks, stairs, and around doghouses. Fleas at all stages of life are able to withstand large shifts in temperature. Just because it's cold outside doesn't mean your pet is safe. Fleas can survive in lows as cold as 28F and highs up to 95F

Inside the home: When we mention fleas, some pet owners think we mean that their house is less-than-clean and that can make them defensive. But even the cleanest home can be the target of a flea infestation. In fact, infestations usually start because the fleas were picked up outside of the home and brought inside unknowingly. If a pet has access to a yard, dog parks, nature areas or kennels, he is at risk of picking up these pesky hitchhikers who make the owner's home their next bed and breakfast.

Many pet parents say their pets stay indoors and, therefore, are not at any risk of having a parasitic infection. Unless a dog strictly uses pee pads and never goes on a single trip outside a client's home, he really isn't an "inside" dog. And even if this is the case, an indoor pet (whether dog or cat), is still at risk for a flea infestation. The chance is obviously lower, but there's no such thing as zero risk.

Inside the home, fleas thrive. They will go from egg to adult in pet beds, under furniture, and buried deep in carpets. A female flea can start laying eggs within 24 hours of feeding and mating, and has the ability to produce 40-50 eggs per day. That's hundreds of eggs in a few days!

Also, they can survive a wide range of temperatures, so even winter is no guarantee you have seen the last of fleas. Without the ideal temperature, early flea stages lay dormant, delaying the emergence of adult fleas—anywhere from two weeks to just under six months. Fleas will do just fine in microenvironments around the home, where temperature and humidity are elevated.

In addition to discussing your individual situation with your veterinary professional, here's how you might start addressing a flea problem: eliminate weeds and brush piles, routinely cut your grass, vacuum regularly (under furniture, too), keep baseboards and other hidden areas clean, keep rodents away from your home, wash bedding—yours and Fido's—routinely, and treat your yard with outdoor products.

By listening to your veterinary team, and learning as much as possible about fleas, you, your home, and your pet will be able to stay flea-free.

Bluegrass Stars Balsam Range in Concert

By Barbara Johnson

The Morehead City Rotary Club brings award winning Bluegrass band Balsam Range to the Crystal Coast for an Alzheimer's fundraiser concert on Friday, March 15th at 7:00 pm (doors open 6:30 pm). Hosted by Glad Tidings Church on Country Club Rd., Morehead City, tickets range from $30 to $45. Purchase advance sale tickets online now at www.attendstar.com/events. All proceeds go to support the Rotary Coins for Alzheimer's Research Trust (CART).

International Bluegrass Music Awards Vocal Group of the Year for 2017 and 2018, Balsam Range now has the top bluegrass album for 2019 "Aeonic." The band boasts outstanding acoustic musicians and singers who hail from Haywood County in Western North Carolina. Their band was named for the majestic range of mountains that surrounds part of their home county where the Smokies meet the Blue Ridge: the Balsam Range. You don't want to miss their thoroughly entertaining performance!

The band is high-power talent through and through. Tim Surrett is pure entertainment as the band MC, seasoned lead and harmony while holding down the bass line and resonator guitar. He charms with spontaneity, wit and professionalism. A stellar fiddler, Buddy Melton is also one of the most gifted tenor voices in Bluegrass and Americana today. His range and tone give Balsam Range its identifying sound. With his envied guitar style, Caleb Smith has been called "one of the top young guns of guitar." He sings with both power and control, delivering a high energy song or a tender ballad with equal vocal skill. Darren Nicholson is a gifted mandolin player and harmony singer with tremendous enthusiasm for American heritage music. Grammy Award winner Marc Pruett brings more than 40 years of entertainment experience to the group. He brilliantly complements the ensemble with an intuitive, traditional three finger style that has made him one of music's most admired banjo players.

Elements of jazz, country, gospel, swing and old-time music are all infused into the fresh sound of this unique southern bluegrass band. Its five distinct personalities create one remarkable musical experience that is the award-winning Balsam Range. To get a feel for their performances visit them at balsamrange.com/videos/. Sound Waves Seeks Writers

By Monica Sellars

Sound Waves needs something...you!
First, I want to thank you for reading Sound Waves. It is great to live in a neighborhood where the residents are interested in community news. Sound Waves is one way we can all communicate and become connected.

I was compelled to volunteer for Sound Waves because I was looking for a "reason" to meet more neighbors. I like to think of it as a conversation starter. And it works! I've met lots of neighbors through Sound Waves interviews and articles, and each person has been kind, friendly, and truly interesting!

Would you like to meet more of your neighbors too? Sound Waves relies on contributions from neighbors to fill its pages. To keep Sound Waves interesting and relevant, we need to hear from everyone's point of view. With new neighbors moving in all the time, I know there are lots of stories to be told.

Your neighbors want to hear from you! You can share an article on a topic of your choice, or get in touch with me for some ideas. Kids and teens are welcome to contribute too! Please contact me at editor.soundwaves@gmail.com if you would like to contribute to Sound Waves.

Golf N’ Stuff BY: SUSIE GARLAND

The LGA golf season will begin on Thursday, March 7. There was no golf news to report for a few months, so here’s a funny joke for your enjoyment.

THE HOTEL BILL

A lady decided to give herself a big treat for her 85th birthday by staying overnight in an expensive hotel.

When she checked out next morning, the desk clerk handed her a bill for $450.00.

She exploded and demanded to know why the charge was so high. “It’s a nice hotel but the rooms certainly aren’t worth $450.00 for just an overnight stay! I didn’t even have breakfast.”

The clerk told her that $450.00 is the ‘standard rate,’ so she insisted on speaking to the manager.

The manager appeared and, forewarned by the desk clerk, informed the woman, “This hotel has an Olympic-sized pool and a huge conference center which are available for use.”

“But I didn’t use them,” she said.

“Well, they are here, and you could have,” explained the manager.

He went on to explain that she could also have seen one of the in-hotel shows for which the hotel is famous. “We have the best entertainers from the world over performing here,” the manager said.

“But I didn’t go to any of those shows,” she said.

“Well, we have them, and you could have,” the manager replied.

No matter what amenity the manager mentioned, she replied, “But I didn’t use it!” and the manager countered with his standard response.

After several minutes discussion with the manager unmoved, she decided to pay, wrote a check, and gave it to him.

The manager was surprised when he looked at the check. “But madam, this check is for only $50.00.”

“That’s correct. I charged you $400.00 for sleeping with me,” she replied.

“But I didn’t!” exclaimed the very surprised manager.

“Well, too bad. I was here, and you could have.”

From the silver tees: low gross was won by Gordon Wall and low net was won by Richie Lienthall. The closest to the pin winners were Tom Normyle from the gold tees, and Richie Lienthall from the silver tees. It was a great day for the MGA.

Clothing and Drapery

By Mat Madsen

This month's subject is: "Clothing and drapery."
 My first Art Article for the Sound Waves was in March 2018, when I was asked, "Is this a one off article?"
 Everyone who bothers to read the monthly Sound Waves knows the answer. When I do a walk through Brandywine, I don't understand why our residents don't bother to bring this free monthly newspaper into their homes, with all of its worthwhile information, and the variety of news and articles. Even the advertising has merit.

Drawing "clothing and drapery" is seen in many forms, and to express this feature in your art, it's necessary to highlight the clothes on a figure, the drop off the side of a table cloth, and the drop of a curtain or drape against a window.

View www.artbymat.com again for my painting of "Mike Davis" on the Portraits page, and his clothing that creates a believable image of his "Clothing." Even on the Mural page, and my painting of the "Mermaid," whose fish tail accents each of the folds. Values create volume.

There are references all about us to draw or paint clothing and drapery, just take a tour about your home, and closet. I've even hung an item of clothing next to my large drawing pad or easel.

View my www.artbymat.com "Art lessons" page, and the photo of the easels I built and use. Every reference helps to create a believable composition, and the satisfaction of a painting you will be proud of, and display.

Folds of material are tubular and hang down vertically, regardless if you're standing or sitting.

My favorite example of a figure with folds is "Michelangelo's Pieta." This I was able to view in person, when I visited the St. Peters Cathedral in Rome, Italy. Please look it up on the Internet.

Remember my August 2018 Art Article of "Observation and Perspective." Always keep in mind what you actually see, and how to relate this to your composition.

The Art Subject for April will be "Figure Composition."

By Waleen Johnson and Mat Madsen

On February 18th the Art Club met for our 2nd meeting. It was held at Waleen's home on Village Green Drive. Boy, did we have a great meeting. There were 6 of us in attendance. We are sorry there was one who was sick. For a surprise, we had a guest speaker. She is Lou Wilson, owner/teacher of Arts & Things at 704 Evans St. of Morehead City. She presented her store, showed us many works of art & then answered many questions. All of us got a lot of questions answered. It was a delightful time.

Doug Hammer has graciously volunteered to host the next ART CLUB meeting. It is on March, 25. His address is 110 Fairway Drive, WEST. His # is 919-649-3789, if you need to contact him. We are really looking forward to meeting in March to see what those in the Art world here in Brandywine are doing.

This ART CLUB has been very enlightening to me. It is a place to relax, enjoy each other's company, ask questions and then show our art to others. I learn from others in the Club.

No matter what level you are experiencing in the Art world, please think of coming to our meetings. We have so much fun & can glean from each other.

Looking forward to great art in the future, Waleen Johnson.

I want to thank Waleen for hosting a very successful Art Club meeting. Having Lou Wilson as a guest speaker was a plus for every member. I'm sorry that I couldn't attend. – Mat Madsen

Banquet Fundraiser for Coastal Pregnancy Care Center

By Monica Sellars

Brandywine resident Sharon White is a long-time active volunteer with Costal Pregnancy Care Center (CPCC). She says there are lots of opportunities for volunteering with CPCC, and Sharon says it is “a fun, happy place” to volunteer. She would be pleased to talk with any neighbors who are interested in getting involved.

The CPCC is moving forward after their building sustained serious damage from Hurricane Florence. Although they are still unable to use the building (just west of the Brandywine entrance on Hwy 70) and have lost all of the contents to mold, they continue to serve clients from a temporary office space near Golden Corral in Morehead City.

The CPCC offers a variety of services to pregnant women, new parents, and other members of the community. They provide STD screening and pregnancy testing, for example. They also provide workshops and counseling to parents. Fathers who want to learn parenting skills can attend the weekly Dads 24/7 group dinner meetings. CPCC counselors also meet weekly with mothers at the MirIAM Center to discuss motherhood and provide self-improvement coaching.

The CPCC’s primary fundraiser is an annual banquet. Last year the group raised $104,000 at the banquet. The funds were used to purchase a new ultrasound machine for the clinic, as well as a mobile clinic, which will enable them to reach more members of the community who need STD testing and pregnancy ultrasounds. Sharon says she believes that Carteret County would be proud to know about all that has been accomplished in our area, all the lives that have been touched, with these donated funds.

Recently, the Center’s Director, Christine Moody, attended a conference in Colorado, where the met representatives from a group called Save The Storks. This group is very impressed with the work and the number of people in our community being helped by the services offered by CPCC. Save The Storks has assisted the CPCC in equipping the new mobile clinic. In addition, the group visited Carteret County and witnessed the continuing effort to recover after the hurricane. As a result, Save The Storks has committed to support CPCC in rebuilding the clinic, which is a wonderful gift for Carteret County!

This year’s CPCC annual fundraising banquet will be held on March 7 at the Civic Center. The event includes dinner and a guest speaker. This year’s featured speaker is President of Save The Storks, Paul Isaacs. Donations for the CPCC are requested at the end of the evening. Please email cpcbanquet@hotmail.com or text or call 252-247-2273 to make a reservation to attend this year’s banquet.

OCTOBER 1989

This issue dealt mostly with tips on how to survive a hurricane and re-sources that are available in the County. (This was the first publication since Hurricane Hugo struck just between Myrtle Beach and Charleston.)

At the Board meeting, the ACC reported two house plans were approved. More barriers for Brandywine Blvd, were discussed, and the septic tank at the Rt. 70 gatehouse is underway.

September and October have been busy around the Pro shop. We were picking up a lot of Myrtle Beach players.

Two new families have moved in.

Brandywine Book Club Notes

By Melinda Brown

At our recent Book Club meeting, we discussed the book, The Story of Arthur Truluv by Elizabeth Berg. It is a wonderful story about the experiences of Arthur and several friends who come to rely on each other as they learn to overcome emotional losses. It was a good reminder that helping others helps us as well.

Our next book selection is Where the Crawdads Sing by Delia Owens. It is a current best-selling book and it's set in rural North Carolina. Come and add your voice to our discussion!

New members are always welcome! Contact Melinda Brown at 247-1055 for further information.

Planning Your Charitable Giving for 2019

Presented by Greg Patterson and James Allen Canady

A new year has begun and now tax season is already upon us. It's time to evaluate what worked well for you financially in 2018 and whether you need to make any changes for 2019. As you do that, you'll want to put together a plan for this year's charitable giving.

A good place to start the process is to consider the following items:

1. Review your donations for 2018 and how you made them. How much would you like to donate in 2019?
2. Did you exceed the standard deduction and itemize your taxes for the 2018 tax year? Do you anticipate exceeding the standard deduction and itemizing your taxes for 2019?

2019 Standard Deductions
Married Filing Jointly and Surviving Spouse	$24,400	Married Filing Separately	$12,200
Single	$12,200	Head of Household	$18,350

3. Are you age 70½ or older? Do you have an IRA or inherited IRA?

Charitable giving strategies to consider

Next, you'll want to decide on a strategy for this year's giving. Maybe one or multiple strategies can work together to create an effective plan to benefit your favorite charities. Below are several strategies to mull over.

- Group your charitable contributions together. The Tax Cuts and Jobs Act of 2017 brought us a higher standard deduction. Unless you have enough deductions to itemize above the standard deduction threshold, you may not be able to deduct your charitable contributions. Therefore, in combination with other deductions, you might want to consider grouping multiple years of charitable contributions together into a single year to generate a deduction larger than the standard amount.
- Contribute to a donor-advised fund (DAF). If you are interested in grouping charitable deductions together but would prefer spreading the distributions to charities out over a period of years, a DAF may be an option for you. It is a charitable giving vehicle that allows you to contribute as frequently as you desire and to recommend grants to your favorite charities from your fund. It can also be used to create a pool of money that will encourage giving by your family for generations to come.

A DAF is established through a public charity, so you can receive an immediate charitable tax deduction when you exceed the standard deduction threshold and itemize taxes. With the 2017 tax law, charitable deductions are limited to 60 percent of adjusted gross income (AGI) for cash gifts to the DAF or 30 percent of AGI for long-term appreciated assets (e.g., stock) to the DAF. Please note: You can also avoid capital gain taxes on gifts of appreciated assets to the DAF.

- Donate appreciated assets directly to charities. If you have stock or another asset that has increased in value over the years, you can gift the appreciated asset directly to a charity. Gifting appreciated assets directly may avoid the inconvenience of selling the assets, as well as the realization of a taxable gain. In addition, the gifted assets may qualify for a charitable deduction if you exceed the standard deduction threshold and itemize your taxes. Charitable deductions are limited to 30 percent of AGI for long-term appreciated assets (e.g., stock) gifted to a public charity.
- Consider a qualified charitable distribution (QCD). If you are 70½ or older and have an IRA or inherited IRA, you may contribute up to $100,000 from your IRA directly to a 501(c)(3) qualified charity without having to include that distribution as income. The QCD can go to a single charity or to a variety of charities.

You can make multiple QCDs if the total of all your distributions stays within the $100,000 annual limit. In addition, the distribution may be counted as your annual IRA required minimum distribution. Also, it doesn't matter whether or not you itemize deductions for taxes because a QCD is not eligible as a charitable deduction. In some cases utilizing QCD's can help you give to charity, fulfill your RMD without increasing income, and still preserve your standard deduction.

These are just a few of the strategies that may be available to you. As always, before making any decisions, a best practice is to consult your financial advisor and a tax professional.

This material has been provided for general informational purposes only and does not constitute either tax or legal advice. Although we go to great lengths to be sure our information is accurate and useful, we recommend that you consult a tax preparer, professional tax advisor, or lawyer.

Artichoke Adventure

By Monica Sellars

I’ve eaten whole, steamed artichokes twice in my life. It’s memorable because it’s fun and delicious. In college, my roommate Julie introduced me to artichokes. She steamed them in a pot on the stovetop and then showed me the proper eating method. We dipped the leaves in melted butter and scraped the tasty artichoke goodness out with our teeth. Recently, my husband went to the grocery store with a list that I’d written. I had “artichokes” on the list, but I did not specify fresh or canned (because I always just buy them in a can). He picked up three fresh artichokes for us, though, so we were committed to an artichoke adventure. We used our Instant Pot to cook them, and we dipped the leaves in garlic butter. I think I had the impression that preparing artichokes was a difficult task, but now that I’ve done it, I realize that it’s not too difficult after all. I plan to make them more often; maybe I’ll even branch out to stuffed artichokes. If you end up with artichokes in your grocery bag, his website has good information and advice for artichoke preparation: https://www.simplyrecipes.com/recipes/how_to_cook_and_eat_an_artichoke/

Where will the “Baby Boomers” Retire?

Provided by Marian Goetzinger, Pine Knoll Shores Realty

What a surprise to find two North Carolina areas listed in the top seven fastest growing retirement areas in America. According to the February 2019 edition of REALTOR Magazine, there is a surge in retirees coming now. If you were born between 1946 and 1964 you are a baby boomer, like me. If you have not already retired, you are probably thinking about it and making plans. If you are not already located on the Crystal Coast, you may be headed our way soon.

In 2018 a record number of people, nearly 1.2 million, 55 or older, relocated out of state. They are choosing a wider range of areas to live than previous retiring people. They are looking for less metropolitan areas and warmer (but not too warm) weather. They crave the small town, marine type of environment we love here. Researchers for REALTOR.com looked at the number of people aged 55 and up who moved in recent years and where they relocated. Two of the seven areas identified were in North Carolina. Number 7 is the Asheville, North Carolina area and number 6 is the Morehead City area, the Crystal Coast.

What does that mean to those of us who are already here? These new residents will bring different cultures and new ideas of what kinds of entertainment and support they want and need. It will be an exciting time or a frustrating time, depending on your perspective.

There will be new development and the infrastructure necessary to support the increased population. This will be a profitable time for builders and other local businesses. It will definitely be a challenging time for local governments as they struggle to support the new development and increased population at the same time we honor our commitment to protecting our maritime forests and all of our natural environment.

New “Age friendly” entertainment may crop up along with more available age friendly shops and restaurants. Churches may need to add a few pews and volunteer organizations can count on some new excited workers. Medical practitioners may need to add more support staff and they definitely need to begin to market to baby boomers a little more.

If you would like for our area to stay just like it is or if you yearn for the way it was when you first discovered the Crystal Coast, you will need to adjust your attitude a bit. “They” already know we’re here and they are headed our way.
